Celebrity Series Presents Emlyn Williams

Emlyn Williams, world-renowned actor, director, author, and playwright, will open Bridgewater's Celebrity Series on the evening of October 16, 1967. Mr. Williams will present his highly successful "Dylan Thomas Growing Up" which has been acclaimed on three continents. Many students will remember Mr. Williams for his television appearance as Charles Dickens last season on television. This will be Mr. Williams second visit to the Bridgewater campus. His comment in 1965 after presenting his Charles Dickens Program was, "I feel as if I were home. Your students are warm and hospitable human beings."

As an actor on Broadway and in London, besides his visits with his solo performance as Charles Dickens, which made a tremendous impression everywhere, Mr. Williams has appeared in Lillian Hellman's MONTSERRAT, Morris West's DAUGHTER OF SILENCE, Bolt's A MAN FOR ALL SEASONS, and played the Pope in the sensational THE DEPUTY. In England he played Richard III at the Old Vic, led the Stratford company as Iago and Shylock, created the role of Sir Robert Morton in Rattigan's THE WINSLOW BOY, and appeared in London last season in A MONTH IN THE COUNTRY.

Office is "Dooley" Moved

If your attempts to gain financial assistance were unsuccessful, DO NOT DESPAIR! You were probably just in the wrong office. The reason for this small error on your part is an office exchange between the Financial Aid Officer and the Guidance Director. Students can now find the Financial Aid Office in the former Guidance Office next to the small commuter's lounge on the ground floor of Boyden Hall. Prof. Dooley, the Guidance Director, may now be found in the former Financial Aid Office next to the Main Room on the first floor of Boyden.

Hippies Happen At Chameleon

By Mark Sullivan

When hippies happen at Bridgewater you can be sure that the Chameleon Conversation Coffee House is opening again for a kicky season. You've heard and read of Flower Power and the Geranium Generation in Post and Playboy, but have you ever met and talked with a real, live, honest-to-goodness hippy? Well the Chameleon is again changing color and will present Toby and Colleen, two West Coast originals from Lilac Land on October 6 at 8:00 p.m. This is just one of the many and varied programs that the Chameleon will present this coming year.

The Chameleon Conversation Coffee House originated last Spring. Established for the purpose of providing an outlet for student creativity, the coffee house enjoyed tremendous support and success. It was started, organized, continued, and operated by Bridgewater students.

This year's host of performers includes a folk-singing former Miss Massachusetts, The Tanglewood Trio, a repertory group, The Changing Colors, and many, many entertainers that B.S.C. has not heard the likes of. So original is the coffee house that Professor Gannon, one of its advisors, comments: "Besides having outside entertainment, it is a soundingboard for student creativity in the performing arts. With a small select audience more experimental things can be done. Every college needs such an outlet."

Who are the workers behind the Lizard, as the regulars have come to know it? Karl Crowell, Executive Chairman, is the organization man. Secretary Susan Biggart, Program Director Lucy Mansfield, Treasurer Mary Ann Weddleton, Publicity Director Bruce Taylor are in charge of the busy work. Professor Gannon and Mr. Cole serve as Program and Financial Advisor respectively.

The time has come. Bridgewater is finally in gear. The Chameleon Conversation Coffee House has more than "a little bit of love;" it's got Soul, Flower Power, and a lot of fun, not to mention the original and different entertainment coming to B.S.C. Follow the rose petals to Ye Olde Parish Hut (the old Parish Hall behind Boyden Hall). If every department now has at least one member who holds a Chameleon membership card, there must be something good about the place. Imagine a faculty member saying this about a student organized coffee house: "The Coffee House is one of the few creative things that students have done on their own. It's satisfying to see students so willing to try experimental and unconventional things for art's sake."

Blessed be those black-eyed Susans! The Chameleon Conversation Coffee House is Bridgewater's answer to psychedelics.

BSC'S Great Hill-ton Opens

After months of waiting, the new Great Hill Residences opened to students on Sunday afternoon, September 17. Six hundred students--three hundred women and three hundred men moved up on the hill.

Since rumors had circulated that the only way a person could get to the dorm was by a trail blazed by a woolly mammoth, parents and students alike were happy to see the new bituminous road.

At present, the college is negotiating with the New Haven Railroad for a permit to erect a foot path across the tracks in the vicinity of the Great Hill Parking lot. Currently students are ABSOLUTELY, POSITIVELY, UNREVOCABLY FORBIDDEN to cross the tracks anywhere except at the protective grade crossing on Plymouth Street.

Looking For Someone? B. S. C.

by Maureen Condon

At the end of the day, are you exhausted? Do you have a cramp in your neck from embracing the phone, while your fingers race frantically from phone number to vainphone number? Do you have laryngitis and sore feet after the longhard day of calling up and down the corridors? Any other aches and pains? Well, if you haven't mastered the art of the African drummers, or if you can't yodel like a Swiss Mountaineer - in Morse Code, or if you can't run up and down the stairs with the speed and dexterity of a mountain goat, or if you have not yet learned to wield the lasso with success --- THEN - You may be one of the BSC Family who would appreciate the installation of an intercom system in Boyden.

While working in the English Office this past summer, I was asked to check a list of books "missing from the library in June." Missing--Ho-Ho-Ho. The majority, sorry to say, were SWIPED. Granted, everyone would like to increase the size of his personal library, but does anyone really want a book labelled State College Library? Maybe someone has a reason. For example, every year monetary awards are given to five or six students in the country for unusual personal libraries. Perhaps we have a contender here at Bridgewater--the student with the greatest amount of stolen BSC Library books. Be that as it may, an awful lot of books seemed to grow legs and walk off the shelves. For example, 84 literature books were not present when roll was called. Multiply this 84 by an average of $6.00 per book, and you can see how much these books mean to the library. Remember too, that this is only the count for one department in the school. Possibly, the new system (i.e. books may be borrowed for an entire quarter) will cut down on some of these less than mysterious disappearances. So, if you have an irresistible urge to take (illegally that is) from the Library, for Pete's sake bring it back when the urge wears off. O.K.?

Kappa Coffee Members

Kappa Delta Pi, Honor Society in Education, will be sending invitations to some seventy upper-classmen for an informal pre-initiation coffee hour. The coffee hour will be held from 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. in the large Dem. Room in Boyden Hall, on October 9. Kappa's social activities and educational projects for the year, and plans for initiation (Tuesday, November 7, third hour in the auditorium) will be discussed with the perspective members.

This year, Kappa will be inducting more new members (last year approximately twenty upperclassmen were inducted) than ever before, in accordance with the latest practices of many of the other state colleges.

Invitations will be sent on October 4 to the dorms and will be posted on the main bulletin board in Boyden for commuters.

Guidance Notes

The Guidance Office is now located on the first floor of Boyden Hall and the director of guidance is busily engaged in the process of moving out of boxes, but Professor Dooley's work still goes on.

The director of guidance has uncovered the applications for the Graduate Record Examination and he strongly recommends that all seniors planning to go on to graduate school should obtain one in the guidance office.

IMPORTANT

Professor Dooley has sent introduction cards to every freshman student. The purpose of this card is to introduce the student to his freshman advisor. If there are any freshmen who have not as yet been assigned a counselor, they should contact the guidance office immediately.

A series of lectures by specialists in different professions are being planned. The first will be presented to any junior and senior female A.B. majors who might be interested in airline hostess work.

Information is available in the guidance office concerning federal service exams, state and government jobs, and insurance.

If there are any men or women interested in part-time jobs off campus, register with the guidance director. He has many openings.

BSC Burgeons

Continuing the rapid growth of its last six years the State College at Bridgewater reports an enrollment of 2,518 full-time day students for the opening of the 1967-1968 academic year. Pointing out that this figure represents a full 150 percent increase over the one thousand full-time day student enrollment of 1961, President Adrian Rondileau remarked that these 2,518 students were in addition to well over two thousand already enrolled in the afternoon and evening graduate and undergraduate courses.

The opening of two new residences for men and women changes the character of Bridgewater to a basically resident-type college with approximately 50 percent of the students living on campus.

Included in the Freshman Class of 764 students are 333 men. The freshmen are graduates of 240 different high schools.

In line with the College's policy of cooperating with the Massachusetts Community College System, 48 transfer students were accepted from this sector of public higher education. The largest number, sixteen, were admitted from the Cape Cod Community College.

President Rondileau points out further that 167 transfer students were accepted in all, coming from 74 different colleges and universities.

Chapbook Seeks Articles

Chapbook has extended its deadline for submitting articles until October 3, 1967. They will accept short stories, non-fiction, and art work, and a limited number of poems.

All this week, Chapbook will be signing up new members for the staff, and selling tickets for the Carl De Suze Program.

Museum Programs Imperiled

Perry T. Rathbone, Director of the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston is soliciting your active support of an appropriation bill now under consideration by the state legislature. The Museum is in urgent need of funds to continue the education programs now offered to the school children of Massachusetts. REVIEW: Don't Look Back

by Mark Allen Leach

"Don't Look Back" recently drew large and largely dissatisfied audiences at New England Life Hall, Copley Square, Boston. In an attempt at realism reminiscent of the Beatle's first movie, "A Hard Day's Night," we follow Dylan and his entourage through a seamier side of England. Unfortunately this film does not approach the artistic success of the Beatle's film. The sound is bad, the cinematography amateurish, and the humor, usually satirical, is too often stale.

The major theme, expressed in the title, is rendered effectively; albeit, bludgeoning and redundant. The dialogue apes profundity but often rings hollow. The heart of the matter is that "Don't Look Back" is Dylan's Apologia; a refutation of misconceptions and fallacies that have been heaped on him.

Although the film fails as art it is successful in communicating a more accurate picture of Bob Dylan. We see him as a sensitive, caustic, caring artist with a monkey on his back.

Because of the film's shoddiness and sometime successful satire, as in the opening scene, the film might be interpreted as a put-on. This would be an error. In the course of Dylan's Apologia there are several serious attempts at an important message. Donovan's entrance into the film is a beautiful and apt statement of love; his song holds the answer to the rat race syndrome. And certainly many people would insist that kudos are in order for the film's fearlessness in using four letter invectives. Finally, the most obvious merit of "Don't Look Back" is that it echoes several of Dylan's finest songs.

Seniors Take Note

CAPS AND GOWNS

Caps and gowns may still be ordered from Paul Burns Co., 316 Summer St. in Boston. Seniors should enclose head size, height and weight along with a check for $6.00. The additional charge of $1.00 is to cover handling and shipping.

FUND RAISING

Seniors are reminded that $5,000 is needed to cover the cost of the senior year. This figure amounts to $10.00 for each member of the senior class. Seniors are asked to obtain their booster stickers or Christmas card catalogs as soon as possible.

RETURNS

Returns will be collected every week on Tuesday morning in the Rotunda from 8 a.m. to 12 noon. Returns may also be given to Diane Ferioli, Jeanne Carlson, Bruce Houde or Dick Yurkus.

YEAR BOOK

The twenty seniors who have not had their pictures taken are reminded that the final deadline is September 30th. After this date only the senior directory will remain to be compiled. The senior directory is a line listing of all seniors in the graduating class.

SPECIALS AND TRANSFERS

Special students and transfer students graduating with the class of 1968 are requested to read the senior bulletin board daily for important information pertaining to them.

There is no truth to the rumor that:

1. You need a note from your mother to return books to the book store.
2. Freshman and sophomore commuters and Great Hill dorm students have been advised to follow the tracks to Route 18 and take an In-Town bus to school.
3. Compasses and maps will be issued to these students.
4. Your program will be correctly computed by Christmas.
5. That our computer was furnished by the Edsel Motor Company.
6. The MBTA is considering a Great Hill to Bridgewater run.
7. The Stadium Authority is considering Lower Campus as a possible site.
8. The Campus Police use silver bullets.
9. There will be an archeological "Dig-In" for the two year old Student Union corner stone.

Colorful Hoods Hit BSC

by Peggy Chiulli

For those curious as to the species of rare bird spotted on campus Tuesday, September 26 at 10:00 a.m., be informed that they are none other than the faculty of BSC accompanied by the less colorful, but none the less rare class of '68 in traditional academic procession.

Procession and address to the college by a BSC alumnus are tradition at BSC based on an even older European tradition. The procession is accentuated by the colorful academic dress worn by the participants. The cap, gown and hood are symbols of scholarly devotion, and serve also to identify alma mater, and degree of learning of the scholar.

As a result, gowns will vary in style; the bachelor's gown has long pointed sleeves, and the hood he wears is three feet long. The master wears a gown whose sleeves reach to the knee, and is square at the end, with a slit at the elbow permitting the arm to show through.

The doctor's gown is more elaborate and has velvet paneling down the front and around the neck of the garment. The sleeves are bell-shaped at the end and have three bars of the same material as the front panels at the upper arm. His hood is four feet in length.

These hoods of varied length differ also in color scheme. The velvet border of the hood indicates the major field of learning in which the degree was earned. For example, colors at BSC might be white for arts, letters and humanities, light blue for education, sage green for physical education, or golden yellow for science.

In keeping with the collegiate practice, a descendant of British ecclesiastical meeting from Edward I's reign, BSC gathers its faculty and senior class in academic dress to open, with the remaining student body, the new academic year.

Swim-In Slated

BSC's answer to the lorelei, the Aquabrytes, will conduct a swimming demonstration on Thursday, October 5, at 7:00 p.m. at the pool. Led by the chief water nymph, Wendy Jenkins, the club will perform individual stunts, line swimming and two or three numbers from last year's show. "Treasures of the Deep." Everyone -- both prospective Aquabrytes and Aquaknights -- are invited to attend.

Where Are We Going- What Are We Doing

A series of "dorm bull sessions" has been established to enable students who wish to mature in a responsible way to meet and discuss these probing questions. The resource persons are ministers from the local Bridgewater area who have devoted much study and thought to the kind of questions raised by students and faculty. These will meet for one hour one night a week at the Christian Fellowship Center. Students and faculty of all religious convictions or lack of same are invited to participate.

Exchange

Buffalo, N.Y...By electing Challenge Examinations, first introduced by the State University College at Buffalo in the spring of 1966, students may take finals prior to the end of their formal period of study. In this way, they can either reduce semester work load hours, or fulfill graduation requirements earlier.

This form of independent study program includes written, oral, performance and demonstrative exercises. Any undergraduate student who has better than a C average in the subject area he would like to challenge, and who is not on academic probation, may challenge any prerequisite or required course. Students who desire to accelerate a program through a Challenge are required to prepare for at least one semester before enrolling in a particular course. Credit for a successful student may not exceed 32 hours. No student may challenge a course more than once.

For some courses, an additional examination requirement, such as

ES Dept. Starts Fourth Series

The Earth Science Department will present a series of three outstanding lectures during the first semester of 1967-68. These lectures are intended to enrich the students' educational experience through exposure to various supplementary material which is not required for only specific courses.

The first lecture in the series will be given by Dr. Samuel Van Valkenburg on Wednesday, October 11, at 7:30 P.M. in room 309 of the Science Building. Dr. Van Valkenburg, former Director of the Graduate School of Geography at Clark University, former consultant for the United Nations, will speak about "Climate and Welfare".

Other lectures will be given on Wednesday, November 1, and Thursday, December 5, at 7:30 in room 304 of the Science Building. On November 1, Dr. Agrippina Macewicz, a member of our own faculty, will speak and show slides of the Soviet Union where she spent the entire summer traveling with a group of American geographers under Soviet academic guidance. On December 5, Dr. Joseph Hartshorne, a geologist with the U.S. Geological Survey, will lecture on "Glacial Geology at Eastern Greenland."

Students, faculty, and the general public are invited. Coffee and doughnuts will be served at 7 o'clock in room 307 of the Science Building before the lectures. An informal discussion period will follow each lecture.

Drama Club Memos

This year the Drama Club opens its season with Chekhov's character study play, THE THREE SISTERS. All students are invited to try-out September 27 and 28 at 7:00 p.m. in the Horace Mann Auditorium. Anyone desiring scripts of the play should see Mr. Terhune in the Speech and Drama Dept.

A Pizza Party for old, new, and interested members will be held October 12 at 6:00 p.m. in Burnell School. Everyone is invited for food, drink and entertainment.

Troupe try-outs for this year's variety act will be held between September 24 and September 28. Check the bulletin board under the Drama Club for further notices.

Two theater parties in Boston are being planned for this semester. Dates for the trips and sign up sheets will be posted on the bulletin board.

Boston Symphony Offers Open Rehearsals

BOSTON, MASSACHUSETTS - The Boston Symphony Orchestra, which opens its Eighty-seventh season on September 29 in Symphony Hall, will again offer a series of seven Open Rehearsals to the public. These rehearsals were reinstituted in the 1950 season to enable students and others to hear the Orchestra in a working session. The proceeds of the rehearsals benefit the Orchestra's Pension Fund.

The Open Rehearsals, previews of the weekend concerts, will be held on Thursday evenings at 7:30. As in past years all seats for the rehearsals will be unreserved.

Series tickets for the 1967-68 Open Rehearsals are now available at the Symphony Hall Box Office.

Freshman at Tufts University will have a choice this year between seminar courses taught by students, and seminars taught by faculty members.

The students maintain that freshmen learn more when the class leader is "asking with them not telling to them." The faculty expresses the hope that "the opportunity for social contact in an intellectual context between faculty member and freshmen will give freshmen an insight into the lively practice of intellectual endeavor and discovery."

STUDENTS SOUND OFF

The Latest Just Crusade: Vietnam

I am sick. I am sick of an extra-long playing no hope dispirited overweight spiritually undernourished okey - dokey bowl of cherries foam rubber padded minds ooh ooh baby the rain must fall yes we have no bananas yes we have no heart yes we have no soul avon calling sky is falling God is dead and better dead than red zippedy-doo-da National Mattress Month carousel world - reconciled to war. Oh Lord, I am sick of armchair patriots who send their children to die for the just cause of grandmother's apple pie and right guard deoderant, whose self-righteously adjust someone else's life in another part of the world by remote control.

I am sick unto death of the insidious masters of war writing out king-size checks to the United Fund and reclaiming the money on their income tax forms, who, because just as there will always be supermarkets because man must eat, real estate empires because man must have a place to live, organized prostitution because man must satisfy his lusty appetite, and multi-million dollar insurance companies because man must die, so must there ALWAYS BE WARS, build their factories, sell their combat boots, their uniforms, their trucks and jeeps, their airplanes, their guns and ammunition, their explosives, their ribbons and medals, sell their integrity, their dignity, their soul, bank their blood money, and still sleep easy.

I am sick of a hypocritical philosophy that preaches human dignity and freedom, but lives up to these ideals only when it is advantageous. Under the guise of freedom, this philosophy sends our young to martyrdom for the principle purpose of protecting America's economic and military interests, this time, in Asia, yet does nothing about the freedom of our Negro citizens, our American Indian citizens.

I am sick of Mothers and sisters who teach their children that a uniform is a sign of manhood, that to be a man you must be tough, aggressive, and pugilistic. Mothers and sisters who glorify war, enshrine military heroes, and love a parade. I am sick of flat-footed flat-headed fallout shelter my country right or wrong shot gun savages who believe that they are the only Americans by virtue of their battle scars. They taunt, insult, and laugh at protesters who want to end the hypocrisy and find a better direction for America, they brand a man insane for sacrificing his life on the steps of the pentagon in protest to the horror of war, and are not even a little moved by the enormity of his sacrifice, yet, bally-hoo about sacrificing their own offspring to holocaust.

I am sick and tired of a world that imprisons a man because he does not want to support legal murder, a world that bestows the highest award in this country, the Congressional Medal of Honor, for murdering the present enemy above and beyond the call of duty, and yet imprisons a marine for life for killing a "friendly" Vietnamese after training him for months to kill, kill, kill.

Oh, I am so sick of so-called religious leaders who preach love, brotherhood and peace and yet publicly condone American military policy - backs our troops to the letter, pat them on their helmets. Chaplains who step out of the black cloth and don an officer's uniform, live very comfortable lives and rationalize their actions as giving spiritual guidance!

I am sick of the generals and government officials who pardon their actions by saying, "well, we are already here, so what can we do but kill for peace." And I am so sick of the young men who consent to all of this in order to avoid punishment, the young men who are taken in by the eloquent speeches of our leaders and sacrifice their lives falsely; believing that they are helping to make a better world.

Yes, I am sick of this world that apes God fiddling with my brothers, that forces a dictatorship while trying to convince me that it is freedom. Truly, I cherish freedom above all else as well, but not their brand; a freedom without peace, a strongman's license, freedom at the expense of the freedom of all other people dear to me. The American eagle is well suited for our symbol; he kills the robins and steals the eggs from their nests. I am sick.

I hear the same chants below in the latest just crusade, "and we won't come back till it's over, over there!" And, oh yes, they do come back, these neon red, white and blue patriots, and the next time to corrupt my children with their propaganda and their guilt. I am sick.

A Call To Celebration

potential; and discover ways of moving into a more humane world.

We have failed to discover how to change our ideals and our social structures so as to encourage human growth; our ineffectiveness and our lack of responsible awareness, allows the suffering around the world and in our community to continue.

The way ahead will be found by those who are unwilling to be constrained by the apparently all-determining forces and structures of the mechanical age. Our freedom and ability will depend upon our willingness to accept responsibility for the future.

The future has already occurred in the present. The present of one is the past of another, and the future of yet another. We are called to live knowing and showing that the future exists, and that each one of us can call it in, when we are willing, to redress the balance of the past.

Join man's race to maturity; work with us in the future. A human adventure is just beginning; mankind has so far been restricted in its ability to regenerate because of the overwhelming need for toil. Now we are free to be as human as we wish.

The celebration of man's humanity, through joining together in the healing expression of relationships with others and acceptance of one's own nature and needs, will clearly result in major confrontations with existing values and systems. The expanding dignity of each man, and of each human relationship, must necessarily challenge existing systems.

To call is to live the future: let us join together to celebrate our awareness that we can make our life today the shape of tomorrow's future. (Richard Fisher--Christian Fellowship)

Football '67 at BSC

by Chris Brady

On Saturday, September 23, Bridgewater State College opened this year's football season. This year the big question mark is the offensive line, particularly with the loss of Jeff Fanning. Junior Jim Accamoundo and freshman Tom Incotto are vying for the opening. Three other freshmen, Brinkley, LaCorte and Tringale, figure to fill some of the gaps. BSC has its backfield returning intact. If the line jells, the offensive should pack quite a punch.

Defensively speaking, if the scrimmage against Dean Junior College can be used as a guide, things look very solid. Bridgewater State's defense tore up any semblance of Dean's offense. At one point Bill Clifford intercepted a pass in the end zone and then raced 100 yards for a T.D.

A steady performance by freshmen could stabilize BSC on both defense and offense, which would mean a big plus in the 1967 season.

"You All Come Back Now!"

"Texas hospitality is ten feet tall," testified the Editors of '68 Alpha on their return from Dallas, Texas, home of the Taylor Co., which will publish the '68 yearbook.

The Editors (Elaine Ticchi, Associate Editor-in-Chief; Diane Ferioli, Layout Editor; Donna Daley, Literary Editor, and Maureen Condon, Secretary) left for Texas on Thursday, Sept. 14, and apparently brought the New England rainstorms along with them to the Sunny South. - it hadn't rained in Dallas all summer.

On Thursday the girls toured the 8 acre publishing plant and were taken out to dinner in the evening by Mr. Kerwin Kemp, the company artist and special host for the BSC delegation. The Editors spent Friday at the publishing plant working with Mr. Kemp on the design for the cover of the yearbook, and ideas for the theme; they also chose the print style, and learned more layout techniques.

Friday evening the girls shopped at North Park - reputed to be one of, if not the, biggest mall in the world. Saturday was their day of rest, so the Editors first went shopping in downtown Dallas, and then rode out to the State Fair (old stomping grounds of Pat Boone, Ann Margret, Tom Ewell, and Alice Faye) for a look at the Cotton Bowl, the Aquarium, and the Art Museum.

The trip back to Massachusetts proved to be rather spasmodic - with the biggest spasm occurring at La Guardia airport from Saturday at 11:45 p.m. to Sunday at 8:20 a.m. (Note: They also serve who only fly stand-by.)

Verse Choir Holds Tryouts

The Verse Choir will hold tryouts during the week of October 2. Notices will be posted on the bulletin board in Boyden Hall.

Verse Choir is a club that puts on programs similar to programs of singing choir, but only speaking voices are used.

The Choir's first program of poetry, called "Winter Festival" will be presented at third hour in the auditorium, on the second Tuesday of December. The Program will consist of both humorous and serious numbers and will culminate in a celebration of Christmas.

Persons who would like to try out for the Verse Choir, please see Dr. Karen Du Bin in the Speech and Drama Office, or see Mae Truesdale, Acting President of the Verse Choir. Please leave your class schedule on Dr. Du Bin's desk in the Speech Office.

The Choir intends to rehearse during school hours and will arrange the hours after the new members have been selected.

Cross Country 1967 Bored? See Board

by Chris Brady

The questions for the success of this year's Cross Country Team won't be answered until the first meet, Sept. 30. All but four runners are freshmen with little or no experience. Captain Bruce Nelson, sophomore Vic DeFelice, and Senior Ed Calabrese should be among the top runners.

Coach Tom Knudson is hopeful that freshman members Ed Rainsford, Steve Doherty, Bob Pariseau, Bill Busiek, and Joe Freuetto will come through for the team. Whether or not the Bridgewater State Cross Country Team has the kind of year they might like, the next few years can't help but be an improvement with this year's influx of freshmen.

efforts by student members of the Experimental College Board and faculty members of the Committee on Curriculum to provide alternatives to the usual lecture and laboratory courses now offered freshmen. Students have long maintained that such courses are too impersonal. The seminars will be small group discussions on selected topics.

The classes will meet twice a week with one or two upperclass leaders; each freshman will be required to keep a journal for entries at the end of each discussion.

The students, in proposing their seminars, described their freshman year as a "Dismal and drudgery-filled experience." They hoped for student led seminars because "freshmen will open up more with another student than with a professor. They still have their previous conception of a professor as an infallible source of knowledge," and "the leader is exploring the topics with the student and therefore makes better progress because he is asking with them, not telling to them." The Graduate School at Cornell University recently announced legislative changes designed to provide more flexibility in its operation.

One change allows the awarding of a master's degree without completion of a thesis. An example of unusual circumstances required for this consideration, is the co-ed wife of a graduate student who earns his doctorate, moving on and, under the old rules, leaving his wife with nothing to show for her work, no matter how extensive.

The new rule allows a special committee in her field to give such a student a master's degree after four terms of residence, if warranted, even though she has not completed her thesis requirement.

Intramurals Begin

Coach Pete Mazzaferro announces the formation of intramural flag football teams. Anyone interested in participating in this program should have his team roster turned in to Mr. Mazzaferro by this afternoon. These teams consist of eight players on the field, but it is advisable to have more players to assure a full team for each game. Teams can be drawn from the dorm students, commuters or from any other group interested in playing. All games will be played from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily on the field behind the Kelley Gymnasium Parking Facilities.

Freshman Follies

by Peggy Pruitt

On Thursday evening, October 21, WRA once again sponsored the "FRESHMAN FOLLIES." This year the freshman women who live on the various floors of the new Great Hill dorm competed against each other for the freshman spirit award.

The fourth floor freshmen, led by Kathy Noonan, won the award for their skit which showed how initiations might have looked in previous years. One of their segments showed a Roaring 20's initiation in which the bootlegging freshmen appeased their Big Sisters by offering them bottled "spirits."

All in all, Freshmen Follies was indicative of the great spirit of this year's initiation. Everyone participated in the spirit in which initiation was intended and good sportsmanship was evident throughout the campus.
